REV. AUSTIN SPEAKS TO SCHOOL

Reverend Austin, the field representative of Linfield College at McMinnville, Oregon, spoke to the High School Thursday afternoon, January 4. He told the students of the advantages of Linfield College, and aroused considerable interest in that college. There are many opportunities for students to work their way through college there; and the college is good both for the morals and intellect of the pupils.

Two of our teachers, Miss and Mr. Whitman are graduates of Linfield.

The college was formerly called McMinnville College, but has changed its name to Linfield.

COLLEGE GIRL ENTERTAINS

Some of Marie Malagren's friends were invited to a tea at her home, Thursday evening, January 4. There were seven girls present and after refreshments were served by the hostess, a social time was enjoyed. The girls greatly enjoyed hearing of Marie's experiences at college.

Marie returned to the University Sunday morning.

FIRST SEMESTER END

Last week marked the end of the first semester of school; the pupils were all busy finishing up the work for the semester, and some were preparing for the examinations which were held during the latter part of last week.

The High School has had a splendid attendance this year, and good work has been done, probably the best in the history of the school.

BASKET BALL GAME

A practice game was played between Phoenix and Gold Hill at Phoenix, last Friday night. It was a hard, fast game all the way through and at the end of the first half the score stood 8-5 in favor of Phoenix; this was encouraging to Phoenix, but our boys knew that they would have to fight hard to keep their score up. Some of them made brilliant plays during the last part of the game, and at the end of the game the score stood 16-11 in favor of Phoenix.

WHAT PHOENIX TEACHERS

The teachers have not been able to find houses to rent here nor places to board so consequently they have had to live in Modford or some equally distant place.

This makes it very hard for the teachers as they have to come such long distances and a long ride is not enjoyable these cold wet days.

The school needs the teachers here all the time because they cannot give the time or proper attention to the activities of the school. If they were here all the time they could devote their spare time to the welfare of the pupils and of the school. This would benefit the community also for it is judged by its school.

The remedy for this condition would be for the board to build houses and rent them to the teachers. The community would co-operate with the board in the matter.

THE STAFF HAS NOTED THAT:

Since a particular University student was home Margaret had a very pleasant vacation.

Joseph Angell is experimenting with looking at people to make them look at him.

Some of the lower classmen boys are greatly interested in marbles.

At last all of the "Hot Dog" signs have disappeared from the staff room.

Book reviews and thousand word themes are flying around quite thick this last week.

The biology class is busy getting wood for their mother.

Gold Hill gave Andrew a black eye.

EXCHANGES

"The world is all wrong," said Mr. Whitman, as he came across a poorly drawn map.

Harold--I'm so smart I took first prize at school to-day.

His Mother--Well, I always knew that my boy would come to the front.

Harold--Yes, and it's good the teacher didn't see me or I'd had to put it back.

Miss Whitman--Your theme should be written so the stupidest of people can understand it.

Willie--Yes, ma'am, what part don't you understand?

Mildred--How many studies are you carrying?

Margaret--Just one. I'm dragging three.

The attendance is increasing in the grades. Several rooms report having new pupils enrolled.

Mrs. Fish's room has an enrollment of thirty-one; the seventh grade boasts of one new pupil, Otto Early who has been attending school in Talent for about a month. He formerly lived in Ritzville, Washington

Little Billy Sheets, who is in the first grade, has been very ill with bronchial pneumonia but is now able to attend school again.

Francis Wold of Mrs. Myers's room has been absent from school for some time on account of sickness.

Guy Corless, of the sixth grade, made the trip from Portland to Phoenix during the recent washout caused by the heavy rains. He was compelled to remain in Eugene for two days because the railroads were impassable.

Mr. Milam will call the members of the Athletic Association together in the near future to consider the spring field meet. As soon as nice weather comes the children should be practicing.

Miss Lelia Nichols who attended this school the first of the year was married in Medford to Mr. Olin Conwell, December 30, 1922.

Mrs. Conwell is well known at Phoenix and Central Point where she formerly lived. Mr. Conwell is working with the Fruit Association of Ashland. He is well known there.

The young couple are living with Mr. Conwell's mother on Nuttly Street at Ashland where it is convenient for Mr. Conwell to attend his work each day.

As scheduled game was played between Phoenix and Applegate at Phoenix, Friday night, January 12.

The first part of the game was slow, neither team making much headway, but during the last half our boys woke up to the fact that they would have to fight hard to win. The score was very close towards the last but our boys managed to come out ahead at the end of the game.

The line-up for the Phoenix team was as follows:

R. Forward-----Andrew Stevens.
L. Forward-----Tommy Caster.
Center-----John Rice.
R. Guard-----Floyd Watkins.
L. Guard-----Ray Burleson.

Substitutions: Roy Bolz for Rice, Harold von der Hollen for Caster, Bolz for Stevens.

After the game the two teams and coaches were invited to the High School to supper. There were speeches given by the captains of the two teams, coaches, and the principal of the High School.

HOLIDAY PARTIES

A surprise party was given on Friday evening, December 29, in honor of Sylvester Stevens, who was home from the University to spend the holidays.

It was a complete surprise, for Sylvester, apparently, by the amazed expression on his face when he beheld his many friends coming in. The party consisted of the Phoenix High School pupils and some of the College students who were home at that time.

The young people played games during the fore part of the evening, until about 11:30, when delightful refreshments were served, consisted of sandwiches, several varieties of cake, and cider.

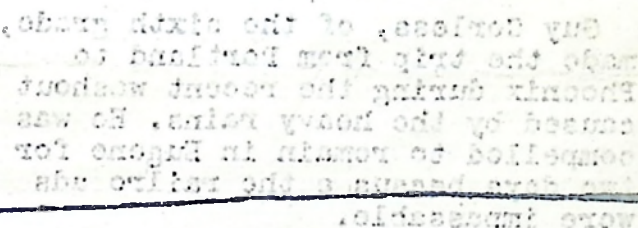

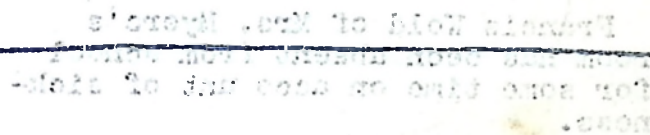

After supper the party gathered around the piano and sang songs until time to go home. Everyone agreed that it was a very successful party.
